

This sequence diagram shows that the superuser of a company can add a new sub-member together with the system we created, and the possibilities that may occur in this case

